The American Public Health Association is the oldest and most diverse organization of public health professionals in the world and has been working to improve public health since 1872. The Association aims to protect all Americans, their families and their communities from preventable, serious health threats and strives to assure community-based health promotion and disease prevention activities and preventive health services are universally accessible in the United States. APHA represents a broad array of health professionals and others who care about their own health and the health of their communities.

Membership Benefits

www.apha.org/about/membership

- The American Journal of Public Health keeps members informed of the latest scientific and research developments. This peer-reviewed public health Journal contains original public health research, program evaluations and special reports on a wide spectrum of topics, including health education, administration, epidemiology, health promotion and more. Published monthly, it's the only original research focusing primarily on the science of prevention in populations. Regular members receive print subscriptions and access to the online Journal. Student, special health worker and consumer members receive only online access. www.ajph.org
- The Nation's Health is an award-winning guide to the latest news in the public health world. Each issue contains timely public health related topics, policy issues in Congress and at the state level, regulatory action, practice news and information about APHA activities. Published 10 times per year, plus exclusives available online. www.thenationshealth.org
- Advocacy APHA continues to advocate on behalf of the public's health and public health workers like you. APHA is proactively working to restore the cuts that federal public health programs have faced in recent years along with focusing on other APHA policy priorities such as access to care and eliminating health disparities. www.apha.org/advocacy
- Affiliation with one of APHA's discipline-based Sections or Special Primary Interest Groups enables you to share knowledge and experience with your peers, develop new techniques and contribute to the growing body of scientific knowledge. Newsletters, list serve groups and timely information are some of the benefits of your Section affiliation. www.apha.org/memborgroups
- Additional Section/SPIG Have more than one interest in public health? In addition to the free enrollment in one Section or SPIG, members may join up to two additional Sections or SPIGs at the cost of $30 for each unit. You will receive timely updates, access to listserves, full voting rights, networking opportunities and other benefits for each additional Section/SPIG you select to join. www.apha.org/about/membership/additionalunit.htm
- Registration for the APHA Annual Meeting & Exposition, the premier public health event in the world, is discounted for members. This Meeting features nationally recognized speakers, panel discussions, continuing professional education, employment services, hundreds of sessions and the largest exposition of public health products and services. This is an unbeatable networking and education opportunity. www.apha.org/meetings
- Public Health CareerMart is the place to find and post jobs in the field of public health. This full-fledged career guidance and resource center offers APHA members many benefits. www.apha.org/about/careers/
- APHA provides continuing education contact credit hours for physicians, nurses and health educators. www.apha.org/programs/education/statements.htm
- The Student Assembly (SA) is a student-led national organization within APHA representing students of public health and related disciplines. Dedicated to enhancing students' professional development by providing resources and fostering diversity, their vision is to improve the future of public health by promoting excellence through a variety of opportunities within the Association. www.aphastudents.org
- Members get discounts on more than 100 APHA books and resources written and edited by distinguished researchers, including the classic Control of Communicable Diseases Manual. As a member, you'll receive up to 30% off the list price. www.aphabookstore.org

* Membership dues are not deductible as a charitable contribution but may be deductible as an ordinary and necessary business expense. The tax deductible contribution to APHA is deductible as a charitable contribution and is not subject to the ordinary and necessary business expense rules. Federal ID#13-1628688. APHA policy provides that all individual members have equal eligibility and responsibility for full participation in the programs of the Association. Dues are nonrefundable and nontransferable.
